Leeds Castle Concert returns with a swing next summer

On Saturday 11th July 2020, 'Down for the Count Swing Orchestra' will be bringing their electrifying show full of incredible energy and musicianship to the Leeds Castle Concert.

Now in its 42nd year, the Leeds Castle Concert has grown both in popularity and in the diversity of its musical programme. The concert is now the highlight of the Kent social party calendar offering a mix of much-loved classical favourites alongside new orchestration of popular favourites.

To mark 2020, the concert will feature exciting content celebrating a 100 year's since the roaring 1920's. 'Down for the Count' recreate classic tunes from the Swing era, but this is no mere nostalgia trip – the band perform each song in their own unmistakable style, breathing new life into the best vintage music. Combine that with the band's top-class instrumental solos, sublime vocal performances and irresistible humour and joie de vivre, and the start to the concert will be incredibly uplifting, setting the scene for much more to come.

This spectacular summer event, unique to Leeds Castle will welcome back The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, with Conductor and Artistic Director John Rigby. The audience will have a truly memorable evening with a diverse exhilarating programme along with the visual spectacle of field-guns, iconic Spitfire display and superb firework finale.
